

VIOLENT MOUNTAIN BATTLES FLARE IN ITALY

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

RUSSIA CONTINUES to be the crucial theater in our global conflict, with vast issues of both war and peace at stake—the one along the bloody Dnieper front and the other in the tranquil atmosphere (we hope) of the conference table in Moscow.

These two momentous events may come to rank among the decisive developments of the world struggle. The titanic battle of the Dnieper is in that delicately balanced stage where it could within a short time produce a German debacle. The politico-military battle among representatives of the big three—America, Russia and Britain—is dealing in the preliminary stages with problems which affect all mankind.

Because defeat of Hitler as quickly as possible means so much to us, the terrible conflict among the Dnieper may seem to be more important than the Moscow parley. I doubt whether it is, though. The Red offensive could bog down in the autumn deluge and mud without doing damage to the Allied cause other than a delay in smothering the Hitlerites, whereas a failure of the Big Three conference to lay the foundations of full cooperation, might be so disastrous as to precipitate another world conflict.

The first task of Conference, Hull, Eden and Molotov is to remove the distrust and suspicion which have been plaguing the three major powers. Until that is done there can be little progress in settling such complicated problems as post-war boundaries and the political complexion of European governments which now are in the melting-pot. Unless it is done there's likely to be another war in our time.

THAT PHRASE "war in our time," which just slipped into our copy, reminds one of the late British Prime Minister, Chamberlain's famous slogan "Peace in our time," and of an interesting discovery by my colleague Sigrid Arne, Associated Press writer. In running through an old song book Miss Arne paused over the "Russian national anthem of Czarist days, and there big as a church steeple was the double of our friend "Peace in our time." The last line of each of the three verses of the anthem is:

"Give us peace in our time, O Lord."

Maybe that's a good augury for the Moscow conference. What Mr. Chamberlain failed to achieve at Munich (to which this columnist followed him) may be accomplished in the native land of the old anthem.

It's logical to believe that the battle of the Dnieper might influence the Moscow conference if the fighting should produce a sudden Nazi rout. Certainly the warmly debated question of the "second front" would come up for review, since a great Nazi upset would be bound to revive the Russian demand for invasion of France in order to get Hitler between two fires and secure a quick killing.

MRS. JOHN T. BURNS DIES IN HOSPITAL

Had Been Active In Civic, Music, Church Circles; Rites Tuesday

Mrs. Marie Brogan Burns, wife of John T. Burns, former Columbiana county clerk of courts and Salem draft board chairman, died in Salem City hospital at 4:30 p. m. Saturday.

She had been ill since last December.

Born on a farm near Kensington, the daughter of Frederick A. and Myrtle B. Brogan, she attended school in Wellsboro, where her family moved when she was a young girl, and later lived in East Liverpool and Akron.

She was married Dec. 31, 1917, while her husband was in service and following his return after the war, they lived in East Liverpool. When he became clerk of courts, Mrs. Burns became chief deputy, the first woman in Ohio to serve as chief deputy in a clerk of courts office. They lived in Lisbon four years, coming to Salem in 1925 to make their home.

Mrs. Burns was active in the Presbyterian church, the American Legion auxiliary and Order of Eastern Star. She had recently completed her second term as president of the Salem Music Study.

Bricker Reported Backing Out Of Presidential Race

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Indications are that John W. Bricker will seek a fourth term as Ohio's governor rather than run for the Republican presidential nomination.

How political friends say they would not be surprised if he announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination before the end of the year.

Two months ago Bricker virtually had abandoned the idea of a fourth term, and everything pointed toward his becoming a presidential candidate.

But the apparent ascendancy of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has caused the Ohio executive and his advisors to slow down plans to enter formally in the presidential contest.

Dewey has maintained he is not a presidential candidate, but he has never asserted he would refuse the nomination, and Ohio political leaders feel he would not turn it down.

However, Dewey has one important hurdle to clear before he may

STRIKES HIT MORE OF U. S. COAL MINES

"No Contract - No Work" Clause Cited as Reason For Work Stoppages

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—"Wild-cat" strikes spread to more soft coal pits today in a work-stoppage emphasized by a Solid Fuels administration report of sharply dropping production of the vital fuel in the last reporting week.

Meanwhile there were increasing indications that the War Labor board would not approve in its present form the proposed Illinois bituminous contract which the miners have held up as a model for the whole industry. Most of the striking miners attribute their idleness to the United Mine Workers' traditional policy of "no contract—no work."

In the face of appeals from union leaders to go back into the workings, lest they prejudice their own case, workers refused to enter seven more mines in Harlan county, Ky., boasting idleness there to nearly half of the 12,000 miners in the county. About 2,750 men were involved, joining 3,140 others who quit four more Harlan mines last week.

Some Grievances Local

That difficulty was somewhat offset by the return of northeastern Kentucky after settlement of grievances which were described as local and unconnected with the nationwide contract issue.

Illinois' list of non-working miners climbed to nearly 5,500, compared with about 4,000 Saturday. Most of the strikes were in southern Illinois.

The big Maiden mine of the Kelly's Creek Colliery Co. at Madsville, W. Va., was closed by the refusal of about 300 men to work without a contract, and another 400 men at other pits in that state went out with them. More were expected to join the walkout on later shifts.

Six big mines went back into production in Alabama, but crews were less than normal though UMW officials there predicted the walkouts of most of the state's 22,000 miners would end soon.

NEXT DRAFT CALL SCHEDULED NOV. 4

Pre-Pearl Harbor fathers will be drafted for military service from Salem in December, Selective Service officials said today as additional notices were mailed to fathers instructing them to appear for local physical examinations.

Notices also were mailed to a large group of draftees for final physical examinations and induction at Cleveland on Thursday, Nov. 4.

The contingent has orders to report at 6 a. m. that day at the Memorial building for the trip. No bonafide fathers are included this month. The group is larger than last month's quota, draft board heads said.

Fathers, some with as many as three children, have been notified within the past few days to take local examinations.

SENATE OPENS PEACE DEBATE

Sen. Connally Declares Now Is Time for America to Act

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Opening one of the U. S. senate's most important debates in this generation Senator Connally (D., Texas) declared today the hour has struck for America to show that its might would be dedicated to world peace and against aggression henceforth.

The chairman of the foreign relations committee took the floor to urge adoption of his resolution that the United States "join with free and sovereign nations in the establishment and maintenance of international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world."

With every indication pointing to eventual approval of the resolution by an overwhelming vote, Connally told an intent senate:

"Isolation has failed. Let us try collective security."

No Single Pattern "The United States can not write a pattern of its own and expect all other nations to accept it in detail," he declared. "The senate of the United States can not blue print in advance the action of the nations whose influence, power and arms must secure the desired results."

Follow Gains By 5th Army; Bomb Austria

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 25.—Violent mountain battles flared on the Fifth army front in Italy today as the result of an Allied drive of three miles that took the vital rail and road junction of Sparanise, 13 miles from the western coast.

The advance of the Fifth army, witnessed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower while on a tour of the front, placed American and British troops north of the stoutly defended Regia defense canal leading to the sea and imperiled the position of the Nazi troops in that area.

"If they don't get out they will be caught in a pocket," a military commentator said.

The Germans launched counter-attack after counter-attack in an effort to relieve their position, but, in the words of the commentator, they were driven off with "a bloody nose."

The entire tempo of the war in the sea and air stiffened as American heavy bombers blasted southern Austria and raided the airfield at Tirana, Albania, a second time.

On the Eighth army's eastern front Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's men poured into an enlarged bridgehead across the Trigno river to attack German positions beyond.

Repulse Four Attacks On the Fifth army front heavy German counter-attacks flared east from Sparanise toward Pignatone and Magliora. American troops smashed back four Nazi assaults in 24 hours.

The Fifth army advance in a mountainous area overlooking the coast constituted a severe threat to the entire German position, and it continued would seriously endanger the enemy's Massico ridge line.

The rail yards and aircraft factory at Pistoia near Florence were bombed last night, and other communications lines at Fomia on the west coast and nearby Minturno were blasted again.

In turn the Germans struck again at Naples, now being converted into an Allied supply port, and 15 Nazi planes were shot down.

The Germans stepped up their air defense by throwing at least 60 fighters against the Allied attackers. American Flying Fortresses and Liberators, flying for the time with the escort of long-range P-38 L gliders from Italian bases for a foray over actual territory of the Reich, made the stab into southern Austria.

Christmas Mailing Scheduled To Start Earlier This Year

There can be no assurance, in view of the unavoidable handicaps of war, that gifts and cards mailed in the weeks immediately preceding Christmas will be delivered one time. Postmaster A. E. Beardmore said today, in urgently requesting persons to "Mail Early!"

Christmas mail will not stand in the way of essential military materiel or movement of armed force personnel, making it essential that Yuletide greetings and packages be placed in the mails earlier this year than the postmaster explained.

Heavily burdened transportation facilities make the number of planes and railway cars available for transporting Christmas mail far below that of former years. More than 30,000 postal employees have gone into the armed forces, being replaced largely by inexperienced personnel.

Thus, the postmaster explained, the only way in which deliveries of holiday mails can be made on time is by spreading the mailings over a long period so that available transportation equipment and postal personnel can be used during more weeks.

Postal delivery zone numbers for the larger cities should be included in addresses this year, to facilitate handling.

This year November is the time for mailing Christmas gifts and cards, the postmaster warned. Gifts should be marked "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

Two Motorists Fined After Patrol Arrests Two motorists were arrested for traffic violations yesterday by Salem state highway patrolmen.

Leonard Stoffer, 19, of 273 N. Roosevelt ave., was arrested on a charge of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle following a collision of his car and a truck driven by Lawrence O'Brien, 35, of Chicago, at Washingtonville last night. Mayor Lloyd Culler of Washingtonville fined Stoffer $10 and costs.

Arrested on Route 18 near Austintown yesterday, Frank Lincoln, 48, of Youngstown, was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Rosenthal of Austintown on a charge of speeding.

ADVICE AND CONSENT

The American people are generally aware, as they should be, that congress is trying to keep President Roosevelt from monopolizing the initiative in the creation and conduct of foreign policy. There is competition between the executive and the legislative branch, and there is still further competition between the two legislative branches, with the house of representatives trying to assert itself on a subject which the senate always has held to be its own peculiar prerogative. Foreign policy discussion and the spate of post-war resolutions now getting so much attention signify that there is a ferment working inside the United States as well as a ferment working inside the world.

As Sumner Welles pointed out a few days ago in his first speech for many years as a private citizen, instead of as a spokesman for the state department, foreign policy does not spring from the hearts and minds of the people, but must be formulated by and within government for the people's approval or rejection. It is particularly important that the circumlocutory post-war resolutions under discussion, including the Connally resolution which is supposed to represent the best thought of the senate foreign relations committee, seem to be serving this purpose. There is no evident disposition on the part of the public to accept any of them, except as starting points for debate.

Whereas the thing politicians are looking for is a resolution that will seem to say everything while actually saying nothing, the thing the people want is a resolution with meaning. If they cannot have a resolution they can understand, they will have no confidence in resolutions, which is beginning to look like the probable outcome of the agitation the subject is being given at this particular time.

The people want their government to do whatever is necessary and whatever seems practical to keep them from being taken to war again in their lifetimes. They don't know what that may prove to be, but in view of the fact they have been taken to war twice in the space of one generation they feel confident that anything at all would offer them somewhat more security than they have had—which is something for senators to remember.

Raymond Clapper suggests that some senators may be more interested in limiting the efforts of the United States to secure peace than in developing them; that senate votes may be consulted in the future to show the chief executive what he was instructed not to do, instead of what he was instructed to do. There is this danger, that the senate, exercising its constitutional function of advising and consenting, may concentrate on its power to restrict and neglect its power to instruct.

If the United States wanted to keep its hands untied and keep other nations guessing—which is their customary procedure in dealing with us—it would commit itself to no post-war policy whatever, other than a policy of lending its moral support to all proposals made in good faith and its moral and physical support to the best of the lot. Meanwhile, there would be nothing to keep this government and its citizens—and even its senate and house of representatives, if they felt like it—from issuing a post-war plan a day, which wouldn't be much above the present rate, until the time when the circumstances of the post-war era reveal what can and cannot be reasonably hoped for in the preservation of peace after World War II.

SELF-DETERMINATION

Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's admonition in Cairo to Greek patriot groups to quit fighting each other and unite against the common enemy, could be repeated for the benefit of Yugoslavia. Within limits, it still applies to the Chinese, who are taking steps to achieve a practical basis for collaboration in China's development. "Fight on, shoulder to shoulder, in order that the day of freedom will not be postponed," says Gen. Wilson.

His advice is for France, for Poland, for Italy, Hungary, Rumania and Norway. It is for the United Nations individually and collectively. Either they will fight shoulder to shoulder for freedom to determine their own futures, or they will lose that freedom to enemies who have no sympathy with self-determination. The fight against the Axis is not for an abstract freedom but for freedom to exercise sovereignty.

As the months and years of World War II pass it becomes plainer with each passing event that the pledge in the Atlantic charter to respect the rights of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live is the war's basic issue. People who cannot work together to secure the benefits of that promise for themselves and their posterity have only a contentious claim to the help they need.

WHAT'S THE NEWS FROM HOME?

Every service man in the uniform of the United States armed forces knows about the importance of railroads in the national war effort. He has seen them in operation, ridden back and forth across the country on them, watched them move raw materials and military equipment. He realizes that if anything happened to the railroads the effect would be paralyzing. The effect on him would be paralyzing, too, especially if he happened to be in foreign service.

As this is written, there is no way of knowing what the outcome may be of a strike vote authorized by general chairmen of the railroad brotherhoods. It must be assumed, that the vote would not have been authorized without good reason to believe members of the brotherhoods wanted a chance to express dissatisfaction.

It would be a sad day for United States fighting men if the news from home ever was a nationwide stoppage of work on the railroads because civilians couldn't agree on a division of money while America was fighting for its life.

BREAD AND—

Our wartime appetites, a less than satisfactory crop of fruit and the shortage of butter, combined with OPA's desire to forestall panic buying are jointly responsible for the rationing of jams, jellies, preserves and all fruit spreads, except citrus marmalades, after Oct. 31. Until then, they will not be for sale while dealers build up supplies.

Consumers who developed their own supplies are lucky. Others will try to be reasonable about it, as they have tried to be reasonable about everything else during the war. The adjustment will be hard to make in a land of bread and butter and/or jelly—transformed now to the land of bread and—

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, October 26

THE ASTROLOGICAL testimonies on the affairs of this day are deemed as of "mixed influence". There are several signs of progress and gratification in many directions, with the mind surprisingly stimulated for brilliant achievement, with energies keyed to initiative and novelty. However, there may be an undercurrent of subtle and malicious undermining, with jealousy and vindictiveness, and this may beget depression, discouragement, and a bitterness that may prompt to reprisals of a kindred nature. If this could be tactfully and shrewdly handled the promises are for financial success and personal satisfactions. Be diplomatic.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to encounter a year to try their patience, endurance, and give them a chance to test their philosophy, cleverness and diplomatic spirits. With these contrary and perverse circumstances tactfully and even graciously manipulated, with awareness to the deep and sinister undercurrents of jealousy and envy there is excellent promise of more than brilliant accomplishment. The mentality should be stimulated to exceptional performance, should they not yield to fear, depression and a kindred spirit of revenge and reprisal. Pledge elders.

A child born on this day, although gifted with excellent mental abilities of a creative and ingenious nature, yet may give way to depression and morbidity, to ruin their chances. Health should be considered.

The entire war in the air is a race as to whether we or the Germans can keep 60 days ahead in scientific and technological developments.—Sir Arthur Harris, British bomber command chief.

Sensible Behavior a Wartime Duty

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
WAR ALWAYS brings out a strain of melodrama in people's thinking and I am inclined to believe there are real reasons behind this. There is a tendency for the only kid left in the block because the others have been called to the colors to be spoiled. He is inclined to think he is quite a one with the ladies and take advantage and act as he would never act in normal times—in short like a dime novel villain. And there is a tendency for the girl who is one of the 20 girls in the block who hasn't got a fellow just at present to fall for his advances.

So I am addressing this to the ladies as a morale booster and suggest that they have just as much a duty to keep themselves wholesome and healthy as the boys at the front.

I have one or two particular instances in mind, of course, or I wouldn't be in such a super-moral mood. Soldiers Behaved Well. First I have had an opportunity of being out with a bunch of soldiers from a nearby camp. Of course there may be other instances and maybe I just got in with the right crowd. But under some provocation to do otherwise I never saw a better behaved bunch of boys in my life. There was very little drinking and very little rough stuff and what there was was suppressed by other members of the party.

By a sort of mutual agreement they all went home early. One of them said to me—"We have to keep ourselves in good shape because nobody knows how soon or how long we will have to be members of the most superb army in the world and the one that polices the world."

The other instance is not so pleasant and I by no means believe that it is typical. She is a girl I have known a long time, married to a boy I have known a long time. They have one child. As soon as he was ordered away I would go over to see how she was getting along, but I seldom found her at home. When I did talk to her there was something about her attitude I didn't like. She had become a chain cigarette smoker. She looked pale and she acted flip. Then I began to hear about her—she was around the night spots. She knew the guys who had plenty of gas-line. Finally she managed to make the headlines in a particularly nasty night club brawl.

Health of American Women. Now, it is my old fashioned opinion that the women of the nation whether they are in uniform or not should take just as good care of their health and take just as regular exercise as the man in barracks.

We are all one country and we are all in this thing together and furthermore there was one gal named Molly Pitcher who did a little soldiering in her time. And another (an ancestor of mine, by the way) named Zane Grey. And still another (begging Mr. Churchill's pardon) who was solidly enough behind her husband for him to remember to say that if the English were not defeated Molly Stark would be a widow that night. I bet she wasn't in any hot sweat chewing on the dregs of a highball when her husband said that.

That my particular instance was an exception is indicated in an official manner by the announcement of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company that the American woman has never been in healthier condition than today. And this is due to her increased concern about problems which especially concern her, childbirth and its problems, tuberculosis, early examination for cancer, and in spite of all the critics you hear, the leading of a sane and healthy life.

The Battle Vehicle of Mercy

Doctors, nurses and patients know these vehicles of mercy. They serve on the battle fronts. Night and day, they perform their errands of speed and risk bringing rescue and comfort with them wherever they go.

For Command and Reconnaissance

Through its two-way radio equipment, Army officers can locate and report enemy positions; can link up the fighting units of our own forces. This Command Car is low to the ground and hard to see in action.

The "Big Shot"

This big job among the fighting trucks carries larger loads of men and weapons. It is an essential mover of heavy guns as well as troop detachments with their personal weapons and supplies. These big fighters are also capable of fast stomp-bumping travel across rough and treacherous country. They, too, have demonstrated Dodge dependability as they work, day and night, for victory in actual battle abroad.

A Fighting Carrier of Men and Weapons

With its cargo body and side seats, this fighter truck can also mount guns for attack and defense as it moves with men and munitions into battle. Its big Dodge engine will serve efficiently in every climate from tropics to arctic. Like its fighter companions, it will ford most streams and take the average swamp or mud bed in its stride.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

"Or the car coulda been losing gas ever since it was last filled."

"I'll ask her when that was."

"And then what'll you have?"

"If someone deliberately punched a hole in the pipe line that somebody was thinking way ahead. He knew where everybody was going to be yesterday. He saw a chance to isolate the Everard garage. He wanted time. And he got it. Time on his side so he could kill and get away."

Most of that was true. We couldn't know then that the killer wanted much more than time.

Meanwhile, the newspapers began to "play up" the mystery and we were deluged with notoriety for months. However, they got but part of the "inside story" as it will be related in full here.

About nine-thirty that Monday morning, Chief of Police Calvin opened the door from the kitchen, where he'd been interviewing Olive Bevans, and came swinging debonairly into the front of the house to interview me—Hilda Glenn.

He spied Romey Hodges and neglected me long enough to greet the county detective sociably.

"Hi, Romey!" he said. "Find anything?"

"Hi, your ownself, Lex! I found out that Mrs. Everard's car is over at Beach Cottage all right. Gas tank's empty. Leak in pipe line. Now I'm going to check on who brought Mrs. E. home last night. Then maybe we'll have—"

"You'll have me! Jack Drummond drawled. 'I brought Mrs. Everard home from Beach Cottage. Now let's go into the library where we'll be safe from intruders and talk this case over.'"

Soon we were settled in the one dusty, unused room in all the house.

"Notice anything last night that we can hang our hats on today?" Chief Calvin asked Jack.

"Here's a pretty good peg. The desk lamp was on in Pete's study when his wife and I drove in from the Drury party. So Mrs. Everard and I figured he must be working on the play he'd been talking a lot about."

"What time was that?"

"About one. Writers work late, you know. You tell 'em, Hilda."

"Till all hours," I said, wondering where Jack was heading.

"And their folks don't disturb 'em. Hilda, tell Chief Calvin how temperamental writers are about having a train of thought broken."

"We're terrible," I agreed.

"Jack cued me again. 'Nancy would never have dared knock at Pete's door to tell him she'd had a good time at the party—not when he was working on his play.'"

"Not even to say she hadn't enjoyed herself a bit without him?" Chief Calvin asked.

This time I came in fast. "Nobody in my family would dare disturb me while I'm at work."

The chief stared at me thoughtfully. "My wife listens to your show. Wouldn't miss a day. She's been listening for almost two years. It's been on about two years, hasn't it?"

"Nearer three." I suppose I said it proudly.

"You're a successful author, aren't you?"

"I'm only a radio-script writer."

"And Everard wrote plays?"

"Yes."

"Ever had any produced?"

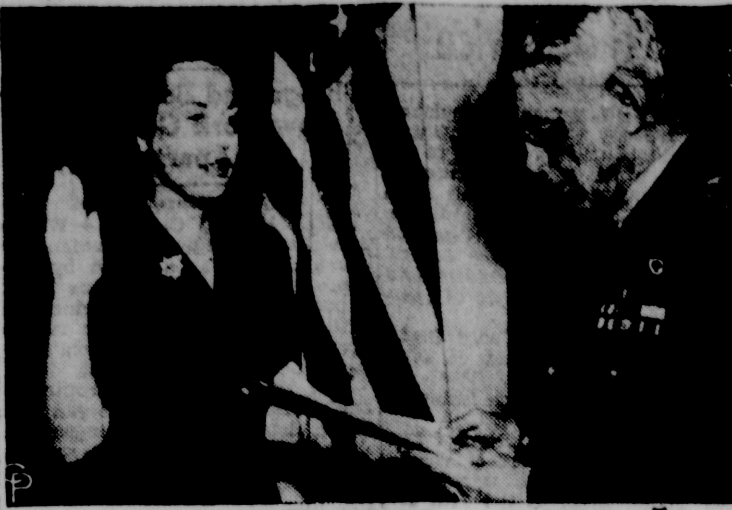

"Not that I know of."

"Maybe his family didn't take his work as seriously as yours does," the chief said tonelessly. "From what I'm told, Everard spent most of his time amusing himself with other gals while his wife chased around trying to sell real estate. I wonder if Everard carried much life insurance, he added. It did not sound casual.

"I doubt it," I said firmly.

"Check on that for us, will you, Romey?" After a moment Chief Calvin turned back to me. "I wouldn't know much about writing folks and their ways. But I do know a lot about husbands and wives and their ways. And I can't figure out how Mrs. Everard slept the night through without noticing

How many boys from SALEM won't come back?

NOBODY knows the exact number. Nobody. But—

The number who do come back—on their own two feet instead of in a flag-draped box—will be in exact proportion to the job we do here at home.

For every minute that we can help shorten the war will mean more lives saved. (213 Americans were killed in the final day of the last war, and 1,114 were wounded before the 11:00 o'clock Armistice took effect.)

Now one way all of us can help shorten the war is to tighten our belts and buy more War Bonds. Yes, still more. And . . .

If you think you're buying all the War Bonds you are able to, imagine—for a minute—that it's after the war . . .

. . . you're standing at the station . . . a bunch of home-town boys, still in uniform, climb off the train . . . one of them kisses his wife and grabs his kid in his arms . . .

. . . and then he turns to a young woman beside them, a girl who looks like his wife's sister, and you overhear him say . . .

"Catherine, I don't know how to tell you how sorry I am . . . it's such a shame about Joe . . . it makes me sick all over when I think how he'd be here today if the war had only ended a week sooner."

Think it over. Can't you buy a few more War Bonds to help end the war that week or month sooner? Sure, it may mean giving up something, but what's that compared to what they're giving up? And remember, always—The money you "can't spare" may spare a soldier's life!

RCAF CADET HELD IN WIFE'S MURDER

Bludgeoned Body of Pretty New York Girl Found In Apartment

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Wayne Loneragan, 26, Royal Canadian Air Force cadet, was detained by Toronto police today for New York police for questioning in connection with the bludgeoned slaying of his pretty estranged wife, Patricia Loneragan, 22, last night.

New York police said Toronto officials notified them Loneragan was being detained and arrangements were made immediately to send a representative of the district attorney's office to Toronto to question him.

Blood stains on the carpeted staircase leading from the third floor bedroom where the woman was slain, meanwhile, furnished a principle clue for investigators.

"This new development indicated that there was a battle royal in which Mrs. Loneragan fought desperately with her assailant," a detective said.

Others Questioned

Meanwhile, Mario Enzo Gabeline, 43, interior decorator, of New York, who police said escorted Mrs. Loneragan to night clubs last Saturday night, was booked as a material witness.

Assistant District Attorney John F. Locher said that among those questioned was Jeanne Murphy, blonde showgirl, who he said had an engagement yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Loneragan's 26-year-old estranged husband.

Police said Miss Murphy, 22, told investigators she had been out with Loneragan Saturday night, attending a show, and that they separated after the performance.

The unclad body of Mrs. Patricia Loneragan, mother of a year and one-half old son, was discovered by Marine Captain Peter Elser when he called to keep a dinner date last night.

She apparently had been beaten on the head with a brass candlestick, found lying nearby.

Check Address Book

Police said the last time Mrs. Loneragan was seen alive was at 4:30 a. m. yesterday when she returned after visiting several night clubs with a man who was questioned last night by detectives.

Acting Deputy Chief Inspector Patrick Kenny said a diary and two address books were found in the triplex apartment. The books contained between 200 and 300 names, he said, and police were checking the lists.

With Mrs. Loneragan in the apartment was her son, Wayne William Loneragan, a governor.

The governor told police that she and the child slept in a bedroom on the first floor.

Inspector Kenny reported that Mrs. Loneragan was separated from her husband, Wayne Loneragan, 26.

But No Frills

Essential Civilian Goods Manufacture Considered by WPB

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Greater production of civilian essentials is in store for next year, barring a bad break on the war fronts.

Unless military requirements take an unanticipated turn, the prospects now are reasonably good for at least a slight boost in manufacture of civilian goods in the first quarter of 1944.

The War Production board's requirements committee has started re-viewing civilian needs in relation to military schedules to determine what increases may be made.

The committee's decisions probably will be governed to a considerable extent by the adequacy of supplies of three basic metals—steel, aluminum and copper. Quantities of aluminum on hand and in prospect are reported satisfactory, but the same can't be said of steel and copper.

Thus some officials believe that badly needed articles which may be made of aluminum—flat irons for example—probably will be coming along in a few months.

All officials agree that there is no outlook now and probably will be none for many months for the manufacture of frills.

ONLY FOUR SURVIVE TANKER COLLISION

PALM BEACH, Fla., Oct. 25.—Four of the 28 survivors of a tanker collision which claimed 88 lives off the Florida coast last Wednesday remained hospitalized today but their condition was termed good by the commanding officer of the Army general hospital.

The four, suffering serious burns, are Lt. (jg) Ivan V. Merrick of Wellsville, Kan., member of the Navy gun crew; E. V. Rodriguez, steward; Michael Pacinski, second pumper, and John L. Dolenc, machinist. All four were aboard an empty southbound tanker.

Col. Charles Demmer, commanding officer at the hospital, said the men would recover.

The northbound tanker, which was laden with aviation gasoline that exploded and spread over both ships, was still burning today after drifting about 20 miles and striking bottom almost atop a freighter sunk by enemy submarines nearly two years ago. The bodies of its dead were still aboard.

The other tanker has been floated and towed to port. It had 28 bodies on board.

SENATE DEBATE

accomplish at this time is to express to the peoples of the world and to lay before the people of the United States the attitude of the senate with respect to this commanding problem."

Connally said the United States is so powerful that it is "invincible against any single power on the globe," and should be equally powerful in world councils.

Chairman Connally (D. Texas) asserted beforehand he would resist any effort to insert even a comma in the resolution, approved by the foreign relations committee. Unofficial polls showed he probably would not have to make any major alterations, and that the measure would pass.

Nevertheless a group of about a dozen senators, headed by Earl R. Burton (R. Ohio), Hill (D. Ala.) and Hatch (D. N. M.), insisted the resolution designate the United Nations as the agency to initiate an international organization with military power to suppress aggression.

Connally contended his resolution was broad enough to cover this demand.

"I don't think the debate can be wished this week," said Senator Ball.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky.) is expected to strive for a vote by Friday.

Ignoring the "flak" bursting among the planes of their formation, Flying Fortresses of the Eighth United States Army Air Force, deliver another load of "eggs" at the door of the Nazis. A stick of bombs can be seen dropping from the yawning bomb bay of the lead Fortress as the big ships arrive over their target, a German fighter base.

Service Your Car At Smith Garage

The owner of any car should have knowledge of a few facts concerning the principles of its operation to insure his securing satisfactory service from his engine. The proper operation of the engine depends upon two separate functions. First, compression for ignition, and second, that the fuel be measured and mixed with air in the correct proportions before it is injected in the cylinder to be compressed at the proper time.

If ignition takes place too quick, that is before compression is complete, or too late, you lose power which is just the same as saying you are wasting gasoline and at the same time your car does not pull as it should.

You would be surprised to know how many more gallons per mile you could get from your car if it was properly tuned if it has not been cared for since spring.

Another condition is taking place that makes for exactly the same result. Gasoline is being compounded so it has a lower octane rating than in the past, a war necessity we are told. Unless your car is tuned to get the most in power from this lower grade gasoline you are not getting the mileage you should nor the power actually available.

Smith's garage at Vine and Third st. have every facility to check and make these adjustments. In order that everyone be treated fairly they ask that you make an appointment for any work to be done, as all cars are repaired in the order they are booked.

Ohio's Breweries Going Full Blast

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—Ohio's breweries are going full blast to quench Ohio's thirst for beer, state tax figures show.

The state sold $10,777,079 worth of beer stamps to Oct. 1 this year, against $10,031,098 in the corresponding period of 1942 and $8,090,970 from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 in 1941.

The greatest call is for high-powered beer, in excess of 3.2 per cent alcohol. To Oct. 1 tax sales for this product totaled $8,699,988, an increase of $828,365 over the comparable 1942 record and $2,523,285 above the 1941 figure.

Records of sale by barrels show that Ohio breweries sold 2,506,539 barrels of both 3.2 and high-powered beer within the state to Sept. 1 of this year. In addition they sold 1,036,905 barrels outside the state. This figure compares with 3,128,323 barrels in the like period last year.

High-powered beer sales totaled 558,585 barrels and 12,973,202 cases to Sept. 1 against 458,606 barrels and 10,024,790 cases during the 1942 period.

Increased war-time purchasing power of Ohioans and rationing of the state liquor monopoly's supply of spirits are considered primary causes of the increased demand.

Guard Against Eye Strain

Home work that all school children are required to do is strain enough coming at the end of the day without other handicaps such as poor light and questionable vision being present.

Eye strain certainly does bring on many other ailments, and as time goes on it's really serious.

Few parents have any way of knowing their children's eyes are in need of help; in fact there is only one sure way and that is to have the eyes tested at least twice each year.

Dr. H. R. Pettay, optometrist with offices at Art's Jewelers, has had years of experience and is equipped with everything necessary to make the tests.

If glasses are needed he will supply them in your choice of frames and you can arrange for payment to suit your budget requirements.

CLEVELAND SCENE OF CLASH BETWEEN NOTRE DAME, NAVY

Ohio State and Indiana Tangle In Game At Columbus Saturday

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 25.—The Buckeye state steps squarely into the center of the gridiron spotlight next weekend as the unbeaten-united Notre Dame and Navy teams—racing toward the national title—tangle in Cleveland's lake front stadium, and Ohio State and Indiana, two of the country's top all-civilian squads, meet in Columbus.

The two features headline an eight-game card for Ohio fans, the other contests sending case to Rochester, N. Y.; Ohio Wesleyan to DePaul at Greencastle, Ind.; Alma, Mich., to Bowling Green, Kenyon to Otterbein, Patterson Field to Wooster, and Baldwin-Wallace to Xavier.

Of the four principals in the two big contests, Ohio State was the only loser Saturday, the Bucks dropping a 12-0 decision to Northwestern's Powerhouse. Indiana smothered Wisconsin 34 to 0, Notre Dame cracked Illinois 56 to 0, and Navy staged a last period splurge for a 28-14 win over Georgia Tech.

Oberlin Drops Wooster. Chasing with a 46-0 win over Wooster, climbed to the peak in the Ohio college standings Saturday. Otterbein dropping from the top when held to a 6-6 tie by Kenyon's Lords.

Other Saturday scores were Miami 35, Ohio Wesleyan 0; Bowling Green 7, Baldwin Wallace 7; Purdue "B" 20, Xavier 19. Ohio State suffered severe injuries in losing 13-0 to Northwestern Saturday, and Coach Paul Brown isn't sure all his talent will be available.

Dean Sensenbaurer, the speedy freshman back from Urbichville, played just a little more than half of Saturday's fray, when an injury to his leg was aggravated and he was carried from the field. Gordon Appleby, sterling center and line-backer, took himself out of the game because of a shoulder separation and battered left hand; Guard Bill Hackett came out with a leg injury, and Capt. Jack Dugger, end, was eliminated by a resounding block.

Here's how the Ohio teams stand:

East Palestine Is Given 14-0 Setback By Minerva

Minerva High unleashed two scoring thrusts to whip East Palestine 14-0 in a Tri-County league game at Minerva Saturday.

Late in the first quarter Minerva recovered an East Palestine fumble on the visitors' 35-yard line. Gene Hudson broke away but fell on the 20. As the quarter ended, Minerva pushed to the two-yard stripe.

Hudson scored through center on the opening play of the second period and kicked the extra point.

The game was marred by fumbles and penalties until the fourth when Minerva registered again. Gordon Brewer passed 15 yards to Dick Barnhart on the 23. Line plays took the ball to the five and Brewer scored on two plunges.

Columbiana Scores First, But Boardman Wins, 27-7

COLUMBIANA, Oct. 25.—Columbiana High's gridders battled the undefeated Boardman High eleven on better than even terms during the first half here Saturday and threw a scare into the Tri-County league champions' followers, but the Spartans came through with a three-touchdown blast in the third quarter and won the encounter, 27-7.

A 35-yard pass, Orr to Newell, for a second-quarter touchdown and Orr's placekick gave Columbiana a 7-0 edge at halftime.

Boardman's attack finally started clicking as the second half got under way.

Army-Penn, Irish-Navy Games Rated Tops For Saturday

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Army vs. Penn and Notre Dame vs. Navy, two of the most luscious tidbits of the season, top Saturday's college football program.

For weeks pigskin fanatics have been hoping that these four teams—ranked with Purdue as the first five in the country—would reach Oct. 30 unbeaten and untied.

Now that their dreams have been fulfilled the demand for tickets to see the games at Franklin field in Philadelphia and at Cleveland's municipal stadium can be expected to increase daily. By kickoff time it is likely that 80,000 will be on hand at Cleveland and 70,000 at Philadelphia.

On the basis of comparative scores and because Angelo Bertelli, their star passer, may hang up his Notre Dame uniform for good after Saturday, the Irish probably will be favored to bowl over the midshipmen. The Penn-Army affair shapes as a tossup.

A Display of Strength

In their final "tune-ups" Penn thumped Columbia 33-0, Army walked over Yale 39-7, Notre Dame crushed Illinois 47-0, and Navy beat Georgia Tech 28-14.

Elsewhere Saturday's chief developments included Southern California's 6-0 last period defeat of College of the Pacific before 75,000 and Michigan's running riot, 49-6 against Minnesota.

Washington trounced highly regarded March field 27-7, while Purdue and Tony Butkovich exploded for three touchdowns in the last quarter to beat Iowa 28-7.

In the east Colgate scored an unexpected 20-7 victory over Cornell, while in the south, the Louisiana State Tigers, on the prowl for an Orange bowl invite, crushed Georgia, 27-6.

The undefeated Texas Aggies were held to a scoreless tie by North Texas Aggies as Tulane beat Southern Methodist 12-6. Unbeaten Tulsa got a good workout in whipping Utah 55-0, while Nebraska upset favored Kansas 7-6.

Northwestern and Otto Graham blanked Ohio State 13-0, the first shutout for the Buckeyes under Coach Paul Brown, while Colorado college beat Colorado university 16-0, and Southwestern of Texas took a 27-6 drubbing from Southwestern of Louisiana.

Beat Liverpool Stickers Available to Salem Fans

As a pre-game buildup for the Salem-East Liverpool football clash on Nov. 5, the Salem Boosters club has had "Beat Liverpool" windshield stickers printed.

The tags are available to any fans who may want them at the Memorial building. Joe Kelly, president of the group, is in charge of the distribution and plans to have one in as many cars as

REAL ESTATE
HERE ARE TWO REAL BARGAINS IN SMALL FARMS!
 Forty-two acres of extra good bottom land located about five miles south of Salem and about one mile from Franklin Square. This farm is an extra good crop producer. This year it made 33 loads of hay and the owner raised as good a corn crop as can be raised in our section. This year was a good test for this farm as frost was early and this was creek bottom land. The owner has lived on this farm about 38 years but is forced to sell it on account of his age and the fact that his health is failing. It is improved with a good six-room house under slate roof, electricity and water in house. Good bank barn equipped with stanchions for eight cows. Barn has slate roof and water inside. Other necessary out-buildings. These buildings are in good shape and would cost at least $7,000 to put them there. We are offering this farm for quick action at the low price of $5,000, which is no more than the price of a cheap city home.
 Another 19-acre farm located near Franklin Square. This land is in a high state of cultivation and lays as level as a table top. Is improved with a good six-room house with furnace and inside toilet. Good small barn, large chicken house and other necessary outbuildings. Electricity is not in but goes past the door. Just think of this, I am offering you this land with these buildings at the very low price of $3,000.
 Now, if you are in the market for a farm, get in touch with me at once, as these two farms are dirt cheap and will soon be in the hands of new owners. For more particulars, see

Household Hints
 By ELEANOR ROSS
 No matter how large or limited the clothing wardrobe may be, appearance is still a matter of clothes care plus good grooming. In these times, women are learning to buy only what they need, to select only clothes and accessories that are correlated and to take scrupulous care of their wardrobe. This type of program always determines a woman's appearance, no matter the times, which is why some women with unlimited money to spend on their clothes never look really smart.
 When garments are removed, they should always be hung up to air, and preferably turned inside out. Place on hanger carefully. Before returning clothes, shake and brush well and look things over for spots or rips or tears. See ripe immediately cleaning fluid, according to label directions.
Coats and Jackets
 Coats and jackets should be buttoned when placed in closet. Handle woolen skirts carefully, placing on special skirt hangers or hanging them over a wooden hanger by the tabs. Hang clothes carefully, straighten out each garment and give each sufficient space so that there is no crushing.
 Light garments should be placed in garment bags or covered with tissue paper. Sweaters should not be placed on hangers, but should be aired and then placed on a closet shelf, covered with tissue. Place accessories in special accessory boxes where possible, after airing, brushing.
 Dry heat in summer and damp heat in winter can loosen joints detach veneer, and cause wood of furniture to warp or crack. Oil or polish applied occasionally will seal the pores and help to preserve the wood.

MOSCOW PARLEY IN SEVENTH DAY

Three-Power Conferees Begin Drafting Terms of Agreements

(By Associated Press) MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—Diplomatic experts began today to set down in black and white the points agreed upon by representatives of the United States, Russia and Great Britain as the tri-partite conference on war and post-war problems moved into its seventh day.

The discussions proceeded amid growing signs in the Soviet press that the Russians considered a coalition of the three powers necessary for future world peace, the plain-spoken publication "War and the Working Class" asserting "a combination of any two of them should not stand alone."

Nature of the documents to be drafted by the experts was not disclosed, but it was learned U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov already had begun deliberating on particular issues after having agreed in principle on some of the general questions.

Hull, who conferred at the British embassy at noon yesterday, spent the evening resting while most of the members of the American and British delegations went to Bolshoi theater to see the ballet.

The usually hard-hitting trade union organ, "War and the Working Class," said the conference would have to overcome difficulties "which are not minor," but "will fulfill its important mission of breaking down the enemy's calculations for prolonging the war."

Asserting that this was the first "real problem," the magazine added its conviction that the post-war "unity of these three powers which head the anti-Hitlerite coalition is necessary and it should become the center around which people striving for solid peace should unite."

Meanwhile, a new United States military mission, led by Maj. Gen. John R. Deane, was installed yesterday and assigned to improving American cooperation with the Russian armed forces and coordinating the work of lend-lease and other American agencies in Moscow.

There are only four dogs in Salem holding the companion degree. They are a pointer, "Jennie Seaview," owned by Helen Louise Rinehart, a Staffordshire, "Merry Shane," belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Clay, and a cocker spaniel, "Cool-shanough's Rusty Lady," owned by Henry Hurlburt.

U. S. Submarine Dorado Feared Lost In Pacific

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The submarine Dorado today was listed by the Navy as lost after serving as a combat ship for less than two months.

A communique said the "Dorado," commissioned Aug. 28, was "long overdue" and must be "presumed to be lost." It carried 65 officers and men.

While no reference was made as to where the loss occurred, it was presumed the action was in the Pacific.

VIOLENT BATTLE

The big bombers encountered bad weather, however, so that they could not report an accurate observation of results.

B-25 Mitchells, sweeping over the Adriatic for a second surprise attack, carried out the mission to Tirana and destroyed a number of grounded aircraft. Lightnings previously had skimmed low over the same target with cannon and machine-guns working over the troops, hangers, workshops and vehicles on the field. A Junkers-52 transport coming in to land was picked off by one Lightning.

Although both Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces on the east and the Fifth army on the west are sweeping the enemy steadily back, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander cautioned that "progress to Rome will be increasingly slower."

At a press conference, Alexander, second in command to Eisenhower, said "all roads lead to Rome but all roads are mined and bridges are down. Slogging across country is very costly and slow, and we must get to Rome."

The Allied line running across Italy in northeasterly direction still is roughly 100 airline miles from the capital.
